

Conference

The Future of European Environmental Law

Groningen
16 May, 2008

Conference outline

This conference will mark the publication of European Environmental Law (3rd. revised edition) by Prof. Jan H. Jans and Dr. Hans H.B. Vedder (Europa Law Publishing 2008) ISBN: 978-90-76871-76-9 (hbk) and ISBN 978-90-76871-77-6 (ppb).

The third edition of European Environmental Law takes stock of European environmental law as it stood on November 1, 2007. It provides an in-depth analysis of important legal issues of European environmental law. What are the legal grounds for EC environmental policy and on what principles are directives and regulations based upon? To what extent preclude EC environmental directives more stringent national environmental standards? What are the requirements the Court of Justice has imposed on the Member States implementing environmental directives? To what extent can European environmental law be relied upon and challenged before national courts and the Court of Justice? How do the Treaty rules on the Internal Market and undistorted competition interfere with national environmental policy?

But what are the challenges for the future? What changes in law and policy are necessary to respond adequately to the threats to the environment in the years to come? This is the central theme of this conference.

From the preface by Dr. Stavros Dimas, European Commissioner for Environment:

“This book is indeed a very welcome contribution to the theory and practice of European environmental law.”

IUCN Academy of Environmental Law

This conference is co-hosted by the IUCN Academy of Environmental Law (www.iucnael.org). The IUCN Academy of Environmental Law is dedicated to advancing knowledge of environmental law through an international network of universities teaching and researching in this area. The Academy engages participating universities, governmental institutions and international environmental organisations in innovative multi-disciplinary research into how law can best address environmental problems around the world.

On Saturday-morning 17 May 2008 members of the Academy will have a meeting discussing the Academy's activities in Europe. Place and venue is to be announced.
